OBJECTIVES

- To apply theory into practice
- To develop creativity skill among students.
- To refresh students' knowledge

REPORT

On 16th February 2019, 20 students of BA (HEP) under the supervision of Dr. M. Raghava Reddy Lecturer in Economics went to a field trip to the largest cooperative vegetable market in Punganur town. The trip started at college at 11.00 AM and reached the tomato market by 11.30 AM. Then the students observed the timings of the market, storage and grading of various vegetables, cooperative system, difference in rates, transportation, packing of tomatoes, tamarind, flowers etc. The students met the farmers, vendors, officials, labourers and discussed about their professions, the way market is being run and the advantages and disadvantages, rates, cold storage facilities and the problems they face in the market. The trip ended by 4.00 pm. and the trip was successful and we believed that our objectives were achieved.

OUTCOMES

Students learned about

- Communication and soft skills.
- Various types of storing, packing, transportation of agricultural products.
- About market prices and Tomato auction and its procedures.
